

Public Lecture by Dr. István Hegedűs, Chairman of the Hungarian Europe Society

“Hungary’s Relations with the European Union: An Anti-Liberal Experiment” with introductory remarks by Dean William Downs of the Thomas Harriot College of Arts and Sciences

Dr. Hegedűs is a political activist, independent scholar, educator, and former member of the Hungarian Parliament. He has taught at numerous universities in Hungary and he has organized many workshops and conferences on current affairs and the European Union.

When: October 23, 2018 at 6pm to 7:30pm

Where: Rivers 105

The event has been sponsored by the International Visegrad Fund in collaboration with the Department of Political Science and the Security Studies Program.

