

DR. ROBERT MCCREIGHT

THE ERA OF COGNITIVE WARFARE—WHAT NEXT?

Dr. Robert McCreight has served for 27 years in the US Army in combined active and reserve duty and served for 35 years in the US Department of State as an intelligence analyst in INR as senior Soviet military analyst, as political military affairs analyst, and as the Deputy Director of Global Scientific Exchanges.

He also participated in the design and coordination of White House nuclear readiness command crisis exercises during the Reagan administration. During his federal career he designed, developed and coordinated well over 26 cabinet level strategic nuclear preparedness exercises, worked on Presidential Protection and Survivability Programs and directed the operation of several dozen senior-level military exercises involving theoretical force-on-force scenarios between the United States and the Soviet Union.

Since his retirement from government service in 2004 he has been an adjunct professor at Georgetown University, George Washington University, George Mason University, Virginia Tech University, and the National Defense University.

He currently works as a consultant to the Department of Defense, working on cognitive warfare. He has recently published articles on cognitive warfare in the Small Wars Journal, US Army Mad Scientist, and Academia Biology.

GUEST LECTURE

WHEN:
March 21st, 2024
5 pm to 6:15 pm

WHERE:
Brewster C103
Main Campus

SPONSORS
Department of Political Science
Security Studies
Program
Oak Foundation

